Copernicus "Borderline" CD

This is not a punk disc but I'll review it to the best of my abilities. Copernicus is this fellow that advocates the ideology that nothing exists. The tracks on the CD are his spoken word/poem things set to really strange ambient sounds and electronics. I almost want to say I attach but they have an apparent rhythm. Kouda like a man doing verbal battle against all the forces of nature and the universe. Dark and cold, yet enchanting and mystical. The equivalent of seeing a really spectacular play. Comprendes?
