

SXSW Picks

Sunday Sleepers

Copernicus: When the lunatics take over the asylum, Copernicus will lead the house band. He played bass with Satan, cut the dance re-mixes for Joan of Arc, and produced the recent "Out of the Fridge" duet for Jeffrey Dahmer and Debbie Gibson. Copernicus makes big music that could only come from New York City, but even the Big Apple has a hard time competing with the man for distilled weird. The other Copernicus proved the world was round, this one intends to flatten it again. Oh yeah!
(Steamboat, 9pm) - Michael Eck