Next Up, Plato

If you haven't heard, or heard of, for that matter, Copernicus, let me interrupt your mundane existence. Copernicus (nee- Joseph Smałkowski) is a performance artist who relates to, you guessed it, philosopher and astronomer Copernicus of 15th Century Poland. He's just released (New York's Copernicus, that is) his fifth album, No Borderline, on No Problem Records. Featuring 26 musicians, the album is an audio-collage of spoken words, most of them spontaneously created in the performance. Sound loopy? At least you know that the performance isn't going to sound overly-rehearsed...
